21 ARE CARRIED DOWN IN RAGING CREEK WATERS

Cloudburst Wipes Out The Little Town of Gradyville, Kentucky.

FEW BODIES NOT FOUND.

Storm at Sebree Destroys A Church, But No Lives Are Lost.

Gradyville, Ky., June 8.—Awakened by an ominous roar, the people of Gradyville, Adair county, last night, sat up in their beds staring into the darkness, not realizing that they were in the midst of death and destruction from a raging river confined between the high bluffs on either side of a high creek. Twenty-one of those were awakened from the sleep of nature were, a few minutes later, hurled into the sleep of death and their mangled bodies scattered along the creek bank or tossed upon its seething surface. A cloudburst in the hills above, following a heavy downpour for several hours, was the cause of the disaster. Sixteen bodies have been recovered and five are yet to be found.

LIST OF DEAD.

The list of known dead follows: Mrs. L. P. Nell, wife of State Senator Nell, and four children. Mrs. Lum Hill and one child. Mrs. Austin Wilmore, daughter and granddaughter. Paul Wilson, eighteen years old. Mrs. Hatfield Moss and six children. Mrs. J. W. Keltin and one child. Miss Mary Moss.

HAS 300 POPULATION.

Gradyville is a village of 300 population, built at the bottom of a valley on the bank of Big creek. Many of the houses are built along the bank of the creek and back of them on either side, are high bluffs of rock. Low water mark in the creek is only about three feet below the surface of the village.

In all of the six houses that were destroyed, the occupants were asleep. How they died will never be known. In two of them, mothers were alone with their children, and all of them perished. In another, three generations were drowned.

TRIED TO ESCAPE.

The occupants of some of the houses further from the stream tried to escape by running, but several of them were caught by the rushing waters and either hurled to death against the obstructions of the stream or drowned.

STORM AT SEBREE

And Church at Corydon Was Burned By Lightning.

Sebree, Ky., June 8.—One of the most severe electrical storms of the season passed over this section Friday evening. The Free Will Baptist church, colored, a frame building, was struck by lightning at Corydon, and burned to the ground.

TANDY-POTTER.

Prominent Fairview Farmer Takes A Wife.

Mr. M. R. Tandy, one of our well-to-do farmers, hied himself to Nashville and was last Sunday morning united in marriage to Miss Potter, of that city. Mr. Tandy had for several months been making mysterious visits to his "brother and sister in Glasgow," which culminated in his marriage as above stated. The lady to whom he has linked his many rare accomplishments. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for the home of the groom, one mile east of this city. We wish the newly married couple a long and happy life and bespeak for them much of the joys of this life, as we know they deserve.—Fairview Review.

Mr. Tandy is one of the best known and most highly esteemed young men in that part of the county and has many friends here who will wish him much happiness.

BIG DISCREPANCY

Between Assets and Liabilities of Petitioner

Eugene Wood, of Hopkinsville, Christian county, has filed a petition in the office of the deputy clerk of the United States court asking that he be adjudged a bankrupt. The discrepancy between assets and liabilities are, probably, greater than in any petition filed here for many months. His assets amount to only $145, while his liabilities reach the total of $17,790.37.—Owensboro Messenger.

Council Holds Busy Session Friday Night—Financial Matters.

COUNCILMAN ELECTED.

Resolutions Adopted On the Death of Councilman J. D. Ware.

The regular meeting of the city council was held Friday night and a good deal of important business was transacted.

Mayor Meacham officially notified the council of the death of Councilman J. D. Ware on May 19, and the following resolutions offered by Dr. J. B. Jackson were adopted:

"Whereas an allwise Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst James Dudley Ware, a member of this body; therefore be it

Resolved: That this city council of Hopkinsville has lost a member of sound business judgment, a man of unswerving loyalty to his party, his city and his friends; fearless in the discharge of his official duties, and a man whose word was as good as his bond.

Resolved: That we deplore his loss and extend our sympathy to his family in their bereavement.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this body, published in the city papers and a copy furnished to the family of the deceased."

The monthly budget of accounts was paid aggregating $968.70. Other accounts paid were: Semi-annual bill of Water Co. $2,198.75, workhouse account for board $59.67, Assessor's salary, one half, $265.57 and several smaller bills bringing the aggregate up to $3,352.91.

The report of City Assessor M. F. Greenaw was received and accepted. It shows a total assessment of $3,540,945, an increase of about $300,000. The polls are 1,282 whites and 874 colored, an increase of about 300 whites and 100 colored. The tax levy was fixed at the same as last year: General purposes 75 cents and sinking fund 25 cents on whites and colored and $1.50 poll tax. For school purposes 50 cents on whites and $1.50 poll tax. This makes the rate $1.50 and $3.00 poll tax on whites and $1.00 and $1.50 poll tax on colored people.

The special committee on fire equipments reported that it had contracted for a new outfit at about $2,500 and the action was ratified by the council.

The license tax on brokerage shops was reduced from $500 to $150 after July 1.

The council went into the election of a councilman for the Second ward, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Councilman Ware, and Mr. Jno. B. Galbreath, who was Mr. Ware's predecessor, was chosen to the vacancy for the term ending December 1st. Mr. Galbreath was sent for and appeared before the council adjourned and was sworn in.

MAN MISSING.

Nothing Heard of Him Since He Left Crofton

The Louisville Times Says: "Chief of Police Gunther received a letter Saturday morning from the Chief of Police of Columbus, O., requesting the local department to institute a search in Louisville for Sommer Schoppert who has been missing for a week. Schoppert had been visiting friends in Crofton, Ky., but lately had been in ill health and last Friday started for Louisville. He was to have arrived at Columbus Monday by way of Cincinnati, but nothing has been heard or seen of him since he left Crofton."

AUTOMATIC SPRINKLERS

Installed in the Wagon Factory of the Forbes Mfg. Co.

FIRE STARTS THEM.

A Flow of Water Turned Loose That Puts Out Any Fire.

The new automatic sprinkler system installed in the Mogul Wagon Works, owned and operated by the Forbes Mfg. Co., was tested Saturday with entire success. It is known as the Niagara Fire Extinguisher Co., and was erected by L. Bullis. It is so arranged that there is a fire sprinkler head every eight feet throughout the entire building. A fire in any part of the building, when the heat reaches 160 degrees, opens the fire head affected and starts a flow of water, and revolving, throws water in every direction in a radius of twenty feet. It also rings an electric bell in the engine room, showing the location of the fire. It also gives the engineer an opportunity to turn in the alarm to the city fire department. The hydrants are connected with the city water works and there is an elevated tank of 30,000 gallons for reserve use.

These systems are very expensive, but save 75 per cent. of the insurance premiums.

Two tests were made, fires being started with shavings, which opened the heads and the flames were immediately put out. A number of citizens, officials and newspaper representatives were present.

The headquarters of the company are Akron, Ohio.

Baseball.

Now that Frank Bassett is home again we may expect a revival of interest in baseball. There are but few things that Mr. Bassett likes better than the national game, and if there is any chance of having ball this summer, he is liable to be at the head in securing it.

"Slinkly Bill's" Revenge

By Hugh Pendexter

(Copyright, by Joseph D. Bonies)

Mr. William Bilks, alias "Slinkly Bill," swarthy of countenance and repellant of face, jaundiced at the corner and looked back after the slouching figure of a man in a red sweater. He knew it was "Hunch" Hunch, and yet it puzzled him that "Hunch" should be sober. He even forgot for the moment that he ought to be angry with his former pal, when he remembered the scene up in Monroe county where "Hunch" turned state's evidence, and only escaped Ashbury prison by sending his mates there for long terms. Mr. Bilks had always treasured the remembrance in his mind and had sworn that once free, and wise enough to keep away from the banks that are under the protection of the American Bankers' Protective association and policed by the Pinkertons he would had time to locate "Hunch" and even up the score. But the spectacle of "Hunch" sober and evidently intent on business eliminated all thoughts of vengeance for the moment, and it was only as the sweater threatened to be lost in turning a corner that Mr. Bilks remembered and quickly dogged the soft-footed renegade until the chanced in a tall tenement house.

"Livin' up here, eh?" growled Mr. Bilks, as he passed the building and noted the number. "It's a long time since I done that, but 'Hunch' I has a long memory to ink heaven! An' we's goin' ter settle dat little account afore youse leave old New York. Now we's has dat bink under his hat. Sober? An' in de moral?" He must have a fat lay, an' I reckon he'll stand fer a pipe."

A casual mingling in Steinweimer's saloon on the corner brought forth the information that "Hunch" had been hiding up in that vicinity for several days and incidentally eschewing the strong water. This settled Slinkly Bill's determination, and as he had no immediate job in sight he engaged a room in a nearby lodgings house and allowed his beard to grow until he looked like a cross between an anarchist and a hedge fence. In this way he came to learn of all the exits and entrances of his quondam pal, and from several trips in his wake, to a certain section of the Long Island shore, he decided some game was on, whereby a summer home was scheduled to wake up and find the larger portion of its furnishings missing. One day "Hunch" drove out among the back alleys and kitchen approaches on a meat cart, after toasting the driver into an acute state of insensibility, and it needed no second sight to tell Mr. Bilks that the land was being spied out in the old approved style.

Once "Hunch's" hunting grounds had been located Slinkly Bill was content to remain unseen but where he could observe his enemy's comings and goings, knowing instinctively the hour of the killing had not yet arrived. The long, spring-soft vigils reminded Slinkly of his youth and his trust in "Hunch," of the time when he thought it the correct thing to hunt in pairs and have abiding trust in his mate. The belief of those days had been destroyed by the one act of the crime, one up in Monroe county, and now Slinkly followed the moonlit trails alone, with no one to call on him for a share of the loot with none to play him double. If the memories added the old crackman in it no way weakened his purpose to have an accounting with his false comrade. If anything, it intensified his desire, the best, he had grace to regret that the honorable calling in which he was numbered a bright light should be dimmed by a false mate. He appreciated that "Hunch" was playing an eminently legitimate game in warring upon organized society, yet those four years in Ashbury could not be grieved down for the good of the order.

So he waited, and one night he knew "Hunch" was to make his strike. No sooner had the traitor left his hiding place and made for Long Island than Slinkly Bill was at his heels, winning his sobriquet anew by the silent manner in which he kept pace and dogged his quarry.

First "Hunch" entered a summer house, occupied by a few domestics, and after rambling over the structure at his leisure, reappeared, carrying something in a small canvas bag that occasionally gave forth a nervous clink. Then another house was entered and the same fruitless exit was observed by the lone watcher.

"Per de love o'-day, beau, but youse certainly makin' a real clean up dis time," muttered Slinkly Bill under his breath, forced to admire the workmanlike way in which "Hunch" was covering the circuit.

At last even "Hunch" grew weary of well doing and paused undecided whether to take in the big house with the gate roof, or to to home after thinking it over under a shade tree for some minutes he evidently compromised with himself by stealing away to a less pretentious section of the town and halting back of a neat frame house.

"Why, say," gasped Slinkly, "dis is fast cigarette an' beer money. He can't be down so low as fer tap dat humble joint."

But "Hunch" evidently possessed the broad philosophy that looks on all netted fish as good for something, for after a quick survey of the moonlit premises he sneaked to the kitchen window and was soon inside the house. Mr. Bilks felt a wave of rightuous indignation sweep over him as he swung his gun shoes over the sill and carefully kept a few paces behind the commercialized burglar. There was more risk in a small home like this, he well knew, than in one of those big barn-like places he had already entered, but as far as any commotion was concerned the two crooks might have been moonbeams, or falling leaves, so easily did they move from room to room. Then "Hunch" dully weighed the silverware in the dining room, and would have grunted in disgust if he had been an amateur, for the stuff was all plated. He had not need to turn on his lantern to ascertain this. But as he was preparing to softly retreat, his small eyes caught a glimpse of a toy bank, the property of some youngster, and rather than leave entirely without compensation he glantly turned a handful of pennies and silver into a great coat pocket.

"Per de love o'-Why, say, dat four flush is breakin' de kiddy's bank," mumbled Slinkly Bill, overcome to find even an enemy in his profession playing so low and oney a game.

Then as the hunted one turned to drift as silently as a shadow to the window Mr. Bilks anticipated him, and as the robber of toys reached the ground he was met with a stunning blow from a chunk of lead, fastened to a strip of leather.

"If youse had been true blue ter de callin' youse would have got off vid jest a touch fer de stuff. But I can't stand ter see a man sneak 'tins on a baby," commented Mr. Bilks, standing over the prostrate form and listening to learn if any alarm had been given. All was as still within as the blackness of the garden wall, and after removing the bulky canvas satchel from his old betrayer's pockets Mr. Bilks again entered the kitchen window and made for the dining room. There producing his lantern, he carefully counted the pennies and nickels, abstracted so short a time ago from the little bank, and silently replaced them piece by piece.

"Jest a dollar an' forty-tee cents," he growled. "An' ter tink dat one of us would sink his mahood, as de mission gus says, fer dat?"

Then he fumbled in his pockets and at last produced three shining silver dollars. "Mebbe de warden frisked it from some poor devil afore deatin' it out ter me, but so far as I see concerned it's dead honest an' I reckon de bank needs it more'n I does." And the broad discs went to join their humble brethren.

With this charitable errand done, Mr. Bilks noiselessly retraced his soft steps and emerged in the moonlight just as "Hunch" began to show signs of returning to reason. "Come along," he growled, catching the prostrate form by the collar and dragging him out to the road. "Come along, youse baby's burglar. It goes agaln de grain ter leave youse where de cops can pinch youse. But when youse wakes up an' misses dat bit of stuff from de big bug's house I hopes youse will wear off dis Christmas tree work an' reform. Gawd knows when a big live man sinks ter dis dat room fer a reform is come."

And as the moon watched Mr. Bilks wend his carefree way homeward toward the big city, laboriously carrying several bags of clinking stuff, the five-year-old in the home of the ribbon-counter clerk dreamed on of seeing up pennies until he could buy a pony.

Sahara Telegraph Line.
The desert of Sahara will soon be traversed by a telegraph line. All the details of the scheme have been worked out, and it is a matter of only a few months before the project will be in operation. The work is being done by the French government, which purports to connect all its possessions in North and West Africa by wire.

The poles will be of metal and will be placed 100 meters apart, supporting the wire at a distance from the ground of 20 meters. The project is of great importance, as it will maintain along the line for these parties. When the line has been completed it will form a valuable link in the means of communication in the dark continent.

WHAT MR. JONES SAID

The Story as Told on the Witness Stand in a Virginia
Justice Court.

A neighborhood quarrel in a Scotch-Irish settlement in Virginia culminated in a lawsuit in the justice court. Mr. Davidson was on the witness stand. The attorney on the side that introduced him asked:
"What did Mr. Jones say then?"

The opposing counsel objected on the ground that this was merely hearsay evidence. The judge sustained the objection, and Davidson's side lost the case. It was appealed to the county court the same point came up, and the ruling of the squire was upheld.

Six months had gone. Another appeal was taken to the circuit court. A year went by before the final decision was handed down, and the squire's ruling was again sustained. Another appeal was taken and this time to the court of appeals.

The docket was crowded and time dragged on through two long years before the highest judicial body in the state delivered the opinion that the squire was in error and that Mr. Davidson might be permitted to tell what Mr. Jones said.

The case was remanded. Again
it came up before the squire.

Four years had elapsed, and still
Mr. Davidson carried the secret in his possession. The whole country was wild to know what Mr. Jones had said, and nearly the whole population was present at the trial.

The persistent lawyer who had dragged on many times put Mr. Davidson on the stand. He asked him many questions. Finally, with a furtive glance toward the opposing counsel and with a gleam of triumph in his eye, he said:

"Now, Mr. Davidson, tell the jury
what Mr. Jones said."

All eyes were turned on Mr. Davidson, and all ears were pricked up.
Mr. Davidson shifted his legs, stroked his beard and spat painstakingly and deliberately at the jury
box. Then he looked at the jury and said:

"He didn't say a darned thing,
and if these smart-aleck lawyers
would 'a' let me I would have told you all so four years ago."—N. Y.
Sun.

SOUND AND SENSE.

A one-legged tramp stepped into the shop of an honest cobbler. "Cobbler," said he, "have you got an odd right you can sell me?"

"No," replied the cobbler; "I have nothing but a pair which a man left here to be half-soled."

"Did he say which half?"

"That he didn't."

"Very well. If you sell me the right shoe, the pair will be halfsold, I shall be suited and the man cannot complain."

The cobbler readily assented.
"Your logic appears to be without flaw," he said, "and since this is the age of reason, who am I to stand out against a rational argument?"

Moral: The sound carries conviction often than the sense.—
Puck.

PREVENTATIVE TREATMENT.

The fact that no death from hydrophobia has been recorded in England since 1903 is cited as an illustration of the preventative treatment of disease.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World

is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the composition, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the short name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.— plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup
Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

FUR SEALS DOOMED

GOVERNMENT MAY DECIDE TO SLAUGHTER ENTIRE HERD.

Tired of the Uneven Fight Against the Canadian Poachers Whose Depredations Are Beyond Control.

It is practically certain that before long the United States government will decide to slaughter the entire herd, thus wiping out the species completely and finally, so far as the waters of the north Pacific are concerned.

When we acquired Alaska from Russia we obtained exclusive property rights (so it was understood) over the eastern half of Behring sea, which up to that time had been regarded as a maritime lake belonging to the czar.
This half included the Pribilof Islands—which, by the way, were not discovered until a little over a century ago, owing mainly to the circumstances that they are shrouded in almost perpetual fog. With the islands, of course, went the fur seals; and we might have succeeded in protecting and preserving the latter for an indefinite period, if only it had been their habit to spend all of their lives in the near neighborhood of the Pribi-lof group.

Unfortunately, however, the seals merely visit the Pribilof islands in the summer time, for breeding purposes, leaving them in November and returning in June. The rest of the year they spend in a migratory voyage to more southern waters, the herd finding its way in the month of February to a latitude some distance

hunters pursued the practice of coasting in the vicinity of the island, and destroying the females as they ventered out to sea in pursuit of fish
for food.

When an animal is assailed on its breeding grounds, it is surely doomed, inasmuch as nature affords no opportunity
of multiplying the species is cut off.
Thus it has been with the fur seals.
Every female killed in the vicinity of the islands left one or more pups on the shore to starve to death, and in this manner, year after year, tens of thousands of the young perished miserably. No wonder, then, that within the last 20 years the number of the Pribilof group have been rendered almost barren of the pinniped inhabitants, the herd being reduced in numbers during that period from about 7,000,000 to 175,000—the present estimate.

Against such depredations by our own people effective measures might have been adopted, but our government has been almost helpless as to deal with the Canadian poachers, all efforts to secure the cooperation of Great Britain being vain. In as much as all of the sealskins are dyed and otherwise prepared for market in England, where for many years the industry has given profitable employment to upward of 20,000 persons, the attitude of our friends across the sea in this matter has been to say the least of it, unintelligent; but even yet it is unknown the main cause of it being that the British authorities
were reluctant, on technical grounds,
to admit that our rights in fishing sea extended beyond the customary three-mile limit. Now it happens that the female seals constantly swim from 20 to 70 miles away from the islands in pursuit of fish, and thus the Canadian poachers are easily able to destroy them.

Author's Day Off.

After years of waiting a young woman asked of Kipling at last what he man of the "Plain Tales." "You,"
she cried, staring at the author. "You are the first Kipling." "Naturally," Kipling replied, "I am." "Yes," she continued, "but I thought,"
she finally explained, "I thought you were a man, like me, who says 'I'm somebody,' and 'I'm a man.'"
"Oh, yes," Kipling smiled to tell her in a very confidential tone, "I am madam.
Only, you see, this is my day off."

Salas.

Rag Time Rhapsodies.

A magazine editor asks, "Do mosquitoes think?" On the supposition that it is impossible to do two things well at one and the same time, I should say that they do not—they merely bite.

The only man that really enjoys hearing you tell your troubles, is a confirmed dyspeptic.

If care has killed a cat with nine
lives, what right have you worrying?
Free advice is usually worth what you pay for it.

A Kansas City paper says there is a town in Cass county, Missouri, called Presular. Isn't that strange?
Have you—or, cleaned up your alley
this spring?

Up in northern Wisconsin where I went muskellunge fishing last spring, venison was worth but five cents a pound—and it was deer at that.

"No woman ever heard of a man breaking his arm trying to fasten the buttons in his back, anyhow," says an exchange. I should say not. That isn't where a man grows his buttons.
Is it, old man?

Tell a man that the baby looks like
him and he feels immensely flattered.
I wonder if he would if he knew why
the people who are standing about always smile?

A Kansas editor likes because so many people drop in to pay their respects and so few to pay their subscriptions.

A Teddy blunderer would be one
with a big stick in it, I suppose.

Says an Ohio editor, "Few men would hesitate long between a good cause and a million dollars." Certainly not, if he hesitates might lose a million.

It used to be that when a newspaper failed, the editor could ride out of town on a train. Now he has to leave in his automobile.

See, What Tail Squirrels.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, of Harkett, were seen passing through Hulton with the fox who had the unfortunate to get a leg broken in a fall from a tree while scurrying after squirrels twenty-five feet high.—Chicago News.

SCENT USED BY WOMEN.

"Sometimes I got on the cars
here," declared a Pittsburgh woman,
who had just returned from Paris,
"and the perfume nearly knocks me down. It is marvelous how New York women—that is, those who role in the cars—use perfume. The French are so different. I don't believe a French woman even uses a scented powder. The Parisians use a scented powder, but it is not scented powder like the kind sold but never perfume. The scents of the scents is never heard of, and it is sufficiently pronounced to fertilize the boulevard—that is the different bouquet and avenue have different perfumes. These women who drive off the Bois de Boulogne—only the American woman and the shopping girl walks in Paris—use violet scents; on the Champs Elysees they use lavender, and on the Avenue d'Opera they use rose."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Weather.

FOR KENTUCKY—Probably fair Tuesday.

It has been all settled that Gus Willson, of Louisville, is to be the Republican nominee for Governor.

F. M. Hutcheson, the nominee for representative in Henderson county, is a newspaper man and of course will make a good man for the place.

Colorado has passed a law making it a felony to steal sheep, punishable by from one to five years in the penitentiary, regardless of the value of the fowls.

Senator P. C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, has expressed a willingness to run for President if the Republicans wish to nominate him. His state convention gave him a formal endorsement.

Capt. E. W. Clark, editor of the Messenger, is a candidate for representative on the Republican side, and former Representative Jas. F. Rogers is also out after the nomination. The Republican convention to select delegates to the State convention will be held Saturday.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

A crap game was rudely broken up Sunday night by Lieut. Morris and officers Broderick and Claxton. By some way known only to the arresting officers, they found out that a trio of negroes were shooting craps at the house of Jim Jesup, within a little more than a square of police headquarters. The officers went to Jesup's house and found him and two other negroes L. H. Crutchfield and Pleas. Thomas engaged in the game. All three of them were arrested.

Jesup and Crutchfield were tried yesterday in the city court and fined $22.50 each. Thomas had not been tried yesterday afternoon.

Hatching Summer Eggs.

While, of course, for numerous reasons, spring is the time for hatching chicks, and with the coming of summer the season is about over, except for now and then a hen that steals her nest, still there are advantages in setting a few hens at this season. The most important of these is that some breeders keeping high grade stock reduce the price of their eggs at this time and a chance is therefore offered to acquire fine stock by buying these eggs and setting them, at a moderate cost.

If sufficient care is taken with the chicks hatched from these eggs, and they are given shade and fresh drinking water, and if lice are kept under control, they will be found to grow rapidly—much more rapidly, in fact, within a given time than those hatched earlier, and if the fall is mild one number of fine fowls can thus be acquired that will prove a pleasing surprise to their owner when he calculates the amount of money expended for them.

Another advantage in hatching out chicks late in the season is that it is said pullets will predominate in the broods, whereas, with chicks hatched early in the spring cockerels will be the most numerous. While the writer cannot vouch for this, still, his experience has been such as to make it seem probable there is a good deal of truth in the statement. f, owing to a cold, late and backward spring poor hatches result and there are fewer chicks than usual, there should be little hesitancy in setting hens to make up for this loss late in the spring or in the early summer, for with proper care these chicks will develop rapidly, and the earlier loss thus in a great measure recovered.—EX.

Quake Chickens

The San Francisco earthquake did not interfere with one hatching of incubator eggs, as was proven by an instance in the heart of the city.

At the time of the earthquake Thomas Duff of No. 200 Pennsylvania avenue, San Francisco, had a large incubator full of white Leghorn eggs almost ready to hatch. They were in the cellar of his residence, and nearly every one of the eggs hatched out a good healthy chick on the second day after the terrible earthquake that wrecked the city. The chickens grew nicely. Duff did not expect many, if any, of the eggs to hatch after the awful shakeup, but as it was quite near the hatching time he kept the lamp going, and to his surprise he had a phenomenally good hatch, as good or better than could be expected under normal conditions. His friends call them the "earthquake chickens." — Denver Express.

Accompanying the 15th session of the National Irrigation Congress at Sacramento, Cal., this year will be an interstate exposition of irrigated land products and forestry products. This will be open from Sept. 2, when the Congress commences until the conclusion of the State Agricultural Fair, which follows immediately upon the closing of Congress. The considerable interest that is being taken in this exposition by prominent people is indicated by the number of trophies and prizes offered by competition. No less than fifteen handsome gold and silver loving cups have been offered for inter-state competition, and to these there will be added a long and valuable list of medals, cash prizes and special awards. California will not compete for these general prizes, so that all exhibits will be on an equal footing and not be handicapped by material right at home which is always at an advantage.

Affected Hands, Arms and Legs—Endured Terrible Itching and was Unable to Sleep—Would Tear the Bandages to Scratch the Skin—In less than One Week

CURED BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I had eczema nearly fifteen years. The affected parts were my hands, arms and legs. They were the worst in the winter time and were always itchy, and I could not keep from scratching them. I had to keep both hands bandaged all the time and at night I would have to scratch through the bandages as the itching was so severe, and at times I would have to tear everything off my hands to scratch the skin. I could not rest or sleep. I had several physicians treat me but they could not give me permanent cure, nor even could they stop the itching. After using the Cuticura Soap, one box Cuticura Ointment and two bottles Cuticura Resolvent for cure, the itching had ceased, and now the sores have disappeared, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. ### TWO NICE SALES

Made in Real Estate Yesterday By Planters Bank and Trust Co.

The Planters Bank and Trust Co. inserted a real estate advertisement in the Kentuckian Thursday and yesterday made two sales of property therefrom. One was a farm of 60 acres on the Palmyra pike sold by T. E. Clark to Mrs. M. V. Duval for about $250. The other was the G. W. Savells place on West 18th street, to M. V. Duval for $1,500. Both were cash trades.

This company has a number of other fine offerings in real estate, city and county, and they are making this a live branch of their business and with much success. Parties wanting to either sell or buy will find it greatly to their interest to do business with this hustling company. Read over their list of offerings to-day and you are almost sure to find something you want. If you want to sell, list with them and they will find you a customer, as their advertisement will be found in this paper, and the Kentuckian does the work for its patrons.

Will Furnish Music for Kentucky State Fair.

Natiello's Band, a premier musical organization with fifty full-star artists, will furnish music for the Kentucky State Fair, to be held at Louisville, Sept. 15-21. The State Board of Agriculture is negotiating with the famous Knabenshue, to bring to Louisville his new passenger carrying airships, together with his captive balloon, and the balloons with which two members of his aeronautic company make races, as some of the big attractions of the State Fair.

Knabenshue has a reputation that is world-wide. He was the first American to make a successful flight in an airship, and has been perfecting the machine that penetrates the skies ever since his first flight at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, until now he has a vehicle, soaring, the air, which carries additional passengers.

A BURGLAR LOVER

THE TRUE ROMANCE OF A PARIS LADY'S MAID.

She Helps to Capture the Clever Locksmith to Whom She Had Been Engaged for Two Years.

Few girls have such a rude awakening from "Love's Young Dream" as Josephine Leclerc, a lady's maid who is in service at Paris.

Some time ago her master moved into a new flat, larger and more commodious than the one he had occupied hitherto.

Part of Josephine's duties was to accompany Mademoiselle Lucienne, the young daughter of the family, to the music lesson every morning, and on a certain day a few months ago she retired to her room in order to prepare for the daily journey.

On entering the apartment, Josephine glanced with pardonable pride at the looking-glass, and took up a comb wherewith to curb the surberance of her wayward locks. Suddenly she had an unreasonable feeling that she was not alone.

Glancing round the room, her gaze rested on a wardrobe. Surely the door was open wider than when she had entered!

The Burglar Seized a Heavy Metal Candlestick, and Struck the Unfortunate Josephine Over the Head with it.

The girl made a quick movement to quit her bedroom, but before she could do so, a masked man bounded from the wardrobe and seized her by the throat.

Josephine did not waste a second. "An assassin! a assassin!" she shrieked. "Monsieur, Madame voici les cambrioleurs!"

Alas for her well-meant efforts! Hearing discovery, the burglar seized a heavy metal candlestick, and struck the unfortunate Josephine over the head with it until she swooned away. But her cries had been heard, and assistance was soon at hand. The burglar, having been discovered hiding in another room, was immediately taken to the police station.

Now comes the dramatic sequel to Josephine's adventure.

On going to the police station to identify her assailant, she recognized in the prisoner Baptiste Resnier, a locksmith with whom she had been engaged for two years.

The surprise was mutual, as he had no idea of his victim's identity.

The police, however, by no means shared the astonishment of Josephine and Baptiste. The latter turned out to be a well-known criminal, upon whom they had had their eyes for some time past.

He had been able to commit many burglaries owing to his trade, which permitted him easily to enter houses, but, hitherto, he had escaped capture. "Mademoiselle is well rid of him," declared a police sergeant, courteously. "She is far too attractive for such a villain."

Josephine parted from her lover with many tears, in spite of the injuries she had received at his hands. She declares that when he comes out of prison she will marry and reform him.

SMALL BLAZE.

Miller Clark's Grocery Had Close Call.

Sunday night about 10 o'clock, some gentlemen were sitting on the Virginia street porch of Hotel Latham, when Capt. Whitlow, one of the party, saw a sudden light in J. Miller Clark's grocery. It was evident that something in the grocery was on fire. The alarm was given and the fire department promptly responded and attached the hose to the hydrant. But very little water was necessary to put out what might have soon proved to be a destructive fire.

Mr. Clark was seen yesterday but does not know just how the fire originated. As he had occasion to go to the store with another man a short time before he was notified of the fire, he is inclined to believe that one of them had laid a lighted cigar on some paper bags while they were in the store. The loss was insignificant.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed. Guaranteed to cure blood poison, weakness and all stomach and kidney complaints." Sold by R. C. Hardwick, druggist, 50c.

STRANGE FREAK

Of Lightning Witnessed by Emmett Roper.

One of the strangest freaks of lightning we have heard of for some time was witnessed by Mr. Emmett Roper last Friday.

Mr. Roper is a carpenter and had a box of tools in the front of his buggy. He was about 15 or 20 feet from his vehicle when a lightning bolt struck the top of one side of his buggy, tore a big hole in the top, ran down one of the iron bow sockets, tore off the top where the sockets unite and got down into the box of tools.

Mr. Roper doesn't know where the lightning went after that. He does know however that he had to have a new cover and lining put on his buggy and is congratulating himself that he was far enough away from the buggy to keep from getting an electric shock.

LARGE CROWD

Of Colored K. of P's in the City Yesterday.

The city was full of colored people yesterday. The colored Knights of Pythias met in grand session and lodges from Madisonville, Paducah, Elktion and other towns in this section were in attendance. Headed by a brass band, the committee met the delegations at the railroad stations as they came in and escorted them to the U. B. F. Hall, where the business sessions were held.

Bought a Home.

Mr. H. W. Tibbs has bought the Rogers place on Fourteenth street, paying therefor $3,000. The property fronts 60 feet on Fourteenth street and has a good two-story house of eight rooms. Mr. Tibbs has moved.

BOLD THIEF

Entered John Chafin's Home and Stole $50.

No Suspicion as to Who the Thief May Be.

Julia Chafin the wife of John O. Chafin, colored, suffered a heavy loss last Friday. While she was in the back yard of her home, on east 17th street, a thief put his hand through a hole in the screen door, entered the room and took out of a machine drawer and got away with $50 in silver and currency.

Neither Chafin nor his wife have any idea as to who the thief is. [She had been saving up money for some time and her husband had warned about keeping money about the house and advised her to deposit it in the bank. She had $250, but she had deposited $200 in the bank, or the thief would probably have stolen all her savings. The police were notified but have not succeeded in running the thief down.

CAUSE OF ACTION

Exists Whether Rebate Was Granted Or Not

Onesboro, Ky., June 10.—Judge Evans has handed down his opinion in the case of Mrs. Cora B. Dalton against the Interstate Assurance company, overruling several demurrers to the pleadings of the plaintiff. The opinion is not final, but the court holds that the plaintiff has a cause of action on the state of facts presented.

The suit was brought to enforce payment of a policy of $10,000 on the life of H. M. Dalton, who was killed by the discharge of a pistol in the Elks' Club rooms in Hopkinsville, in May of last year. The chief point of defense was that the insured had not paid the first premium, but that he had been granted a rebate by the agent of the company. Judge Evans holds that, even if he were granted a rebate, this does not invalidate the policy. Another point raised by demurrer was that Dalton was carrying a pistol in violation of the law. Judge Evans holds that this point may be material, in the event it is finally shown that the pistol was carried concealed. Dalton was handing the pistol to the janitor of the club when, it is alleged, the weapon was accidentally discharged.

Life.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins!" is a young one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abundant. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

DIDN'T KNOW

Where Match Was Made, But it is Hot at Home.

Two old chums were standing on Main Street the other day talking. Gregg's wife is a large fine-looking lady. While the chums were talking Gregg's wife drove up in her stately and stepped in front of a store. Gregg's friend said: "Gregg, I have never understood how you managed to marry such a pretty woman."

"Neither have I. She didn't marry me for my money. I'm certain of that."

"You are not particularly good looking, either. One of those matches made in heaven that were talked of many years ago?"

"It might have been; but I'll tell you it gets as hot as Hades at home sometimes," replied Gregg, who understood the nod across the street and went over to find out what his spouse was wanting just then.

WEATHER PROPHETS

Are Forecasting All Kinds of Days For This Month.

But few people pay any attention to forecasts made months ahead of time, but the guessers have been hitting the nail on the head so often this year that people are beginning to believe that "there is something in them"—maybe.

Here is what has been dished out for the remainder of this month: June 9th to 13th, almost cold enough for frost.

June 13th to 15th is to be fine. June 16th, showery and hot. June 18th to 22nd, agreeable. June 24th, heavy electric storms. June 14th to 27th, real cold.

Selling Real Estate.

J. F. Ellis has sold recently seven lots in Campbell's Addition to various parties, some of whom are erecting handsome residences. If you want any of this desirable property you will have to hurry.

Very Quiet.

If business does not improve June will be a dull month in Police circles. Thus far only 18 arrests have been made. Disorderly conduct and drunks have been the principal offenses.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Book of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Poultry Notes.

A 1 per cent solution of any disinfectant is one part of the solution to 99 of water. Carbolic acid for disinfecting quarters is generally used as a 1 per cent solution.

In administering medicines the following table should be borne in mind:

Sixty drops make teaspoonful, four teaspoonful make a tablespoon, eight tablespoonful make an ounce, four ounces one gill, four gills one pint, two pints one quart, four quarts one gallon.

Dumble foot is nothing less than a stone bruise. It is generally quite common where the roosts are high, or where the hens are allowed to make their nests on high sheds or in lofts. In flying to the ground they bruise the feet and the trouble results. Paint the swollen place with tincture of iodine and after two days bathe freely with vaseline.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Hopkinsville Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times "it's the kidney's fault. Backache is really kidney ache; that's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it. Many Hopkinsville women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. John Combs, 1226 South Virginia street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says:
"For a great many years I suffered from a persistent aching across my loins and through my kidneys.
At times my back was so bad I could hardly turn in bed; I could not lie on my back without putting my hand under it, for in this way it seemed to relieve the pain. A friend of Mr.
Combs told him about Doan's Kidney Pills and he got a box for me at L. A. Johnson & Co's drug store. On using them, I steadily improved and the dreadful aching was relieved and I could attend to my household duties without inconvenience. Doan's Kidney Pills did more for me than any other medicine I ever used, and I heartily recommend them."

HELP DWARFS AND CRIPPLES

One of the Many London Charities
That interests the Visitor.

Among the many charities in London there is none more interesting to the visitor than the factory
where girls who are blind, cripples in wheel chairs, and dwarfs, some of them only a yard high, are taught
the art of making artificial flowers,
and when they have mastered the rudimentary branches they are paid for their time.

The factory is maintained by the Water Cross and Flower Girls' Christian mission, which was organized 40 years ago by the late Earl Shaftesbury, and is now under the patronage of the queen and princesses of Wales. To give the girls some employment, that would help them to feed that, after that, it was of some use in the world
was the desire of the earl, whose notion of charity was to help others to help themselves, and the idea of making flowers was hit upon as being just the thing, for the work is light, cheerful and interesting.

The experiment was immediately successful. The girls, many of whom were unable to walk or stand, developed such skill in making high-
class flowers, for which there is always a market, that the charity soon became almost self-supporting, and the girls earned wages of from five to ten shillings a week.

The cripples factory became famous with dealers, and since its first years it has prospered to such an extent that the cripples and the blind journey from all parts of the kingdom to enter the school.

JUROR'S JOKE A BOOMERANG.

A circuit court jury spent all afternoon and part of the night at the courthouse because one of the jurors insisted on a little joke with the court, when the jury was about to be dismissed.

The 12 men were trying the case of Lloyd Curtis, charged with contributing to the delinquency of Emma Morris, 15 years old. The case went to the jury in the forenoon and at four p. m. Judge Frazer was called on for additional instructions. He was advised, when the jury filed into court, that a deadlock was on and that the probability of a verdict seemed very small.

"Possibly you have been here long enough," suggested Judge Frazer.
"That's right—let the next jury
try the case—stay with it all night," spoke up Juror Thuman.

"You might just as well stay all night as the next jury," retorted Judge Frazer, and the 12 men were shown back to the jury-room to make a new attempt to reach a verdict.

BENEFITS FROM SULPHUR.

Sulphur, the ordinary brimstone with which the devil maintains the fires of Hades, is possessed of disinfectant and antiparasitic powers.
When taken internally it stimulates the action of the bowels, awakens
the epithelium, opens up the pores of the skin and rehabilitates the nervous membrane. A good sweat is the open sesame to health. Sulphur will make you sweat. Molasses is merely a convenient vehicle. Don't be afraid of sulphur and molasses.
It is time honored, and no physician
has the courage to turn it down.
Give it to the old, the sick, the children; try it on your wife and take three or four spoonfuls yourself every day for a little while.

BACK AT THE PREACHER.

A little meeting-house in Brecon-shire: It was a hot summer evening, and the minister posed on im-mortally, till, pausing to look around, he found everybody had gone to sleep but the village idiot.
"Nobody," he exclaimed, reproachfully, "is listening to me but one person idiot." The idiot immediately rose and said: "If I were an idiot I should not be listening to you," and returned to the halli-
cud and went to bed.

A SMALL TARGET.

"What a small target you are,"
said a man to a woman.
"Did you shoot him?"
"No, I knew he wasn't a good enough shot to carry out his threat."

MADE THIRD FORTUNE.

After losing two fortunes ex-Senator William M. Stewart of Nevada is again rated at above $1,000,000.
He started his third fortune after he was 80 years old.

THE DEAR LITTLE SKUNKS!

They Eat Up All Those Nagrashoppers, Say Government Officials.

Skunks are the farmers' friends,
according to the biological survey of the department of agriculture, and deserve to be cultivated rather than destroyed.

The experts of this bureau have found that the skunk, shunned and avoided as it is, is the greatest grasshopper exterminator known. It takes rank ahead of the red-headed woodpecker, barnyard fowls and meadow larks. In the past the skunk has been an animal regarded as worthy only of the price of its pelt or the lard its fat would produce.

Now the biological survey insists that when a field is overrun with grasshoppers all that is necessary for the farmer to do is to gather together a working force of skunks
and turn them loose in the infested area. The skunk will do the rest.

While skunks are not animals to be handled with impunity, a herd of domesticated skunks might be kept on hand on every farm to use in an emergency. If the skunk is not immediately applied to the grasshopper pest the grasshoppers will eat up the field and pass on to the next.

AN EXPENSIVE ROW.

When in Maine a few summers
ago Miss Aphie James, of the Louis James company, had a most amusing experience in a gloomy background.

Miss James was stopping at one of the fashionable hotels near the Androscoggin river. Desiring to take a row one day, she engaged a small boat from a farmer who lived near the bank of the stream, and started out early in the morning, and did not return until about one o'clock.

Fasting the boat to a tree, she went up to the farmer's house and asked what she owed him.

"How long have you had the boat?" he asked.

"Since eight this morning," Miss James replied.

"Ge Whillikins!" he exclaimed,
"you're had that boat five hours,
and, b'gosh, I've got to charge you
for it."

"Well, how much?" she asked.

"Now, see here, madam, I don't want to take advantage of your being a New Yorker, but I can't afford to do business at a cheap rate,
so I will have to charge you 25 cents for the use of that boat."—Baltimore American.

A BOY AND A GUN.

Last month a fox killed 12 hens belonging to farmer Davis, near Racine, Wis., and as it was to be expected that Reynard would return for the rest of the flock, the farmer's son, a lad 13 years old named Abe, got permission to fix up a spring gun to give the intruder a warm reception.

He loaded a shotgun and tied a string to the trigger and the other end of it to a dog hen. If the fox picked up the hen the gun would go off and pepper him.

The gun was heard to go off
about midnight, but the farmer did not go out until daylight. Then a man who had been shot in the leg
was found in the house.

He stood up then he came to
and a horse from the barn, but in the darkness had blundered
among the chickens and stumbled over the dog, and discharged the gun. He is now in jail, and the boy is being put on the back.

THE EARLY COMMERCIAL IN- STINCT.

Ronibus had just left his foster mother, the wolf, and was on his way to the seashore when he met Remus.

"What's the matter, brother?" he asked. "And what is your knife doing out of its sheath?"

The junior founder of Rome frowned darkly.

"There's a black-headed trailer
from Tyne down there on the shore," he growled. "We had the nerve

HER IDEA OF PIN MONEY.

"You know, dear," cooed the bride, "you promised to let me have all the pin money I wanted."

"Yes, love, and you shall have it."

"Oh, you dear! Well, I saw a pin-to-day with pearls and diamonds in it and I do want it so."

DIRECTNESS AND ACCURACY.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S AIM ALWAYS HAS BEEN TO GIVE POSITIVE AND VALUABLE SERVICE FOR EVERY DOLLAR PROVIDED, THERE-FORE WHEN HE BEGAN PROFESSIONAL LIFE HE BOUGHT TO

AIM STRAIGHT AND HIT THE MARK.

especially in the treatment of a very large class of cases that were being mistreated by many physicians through ignorance of their real nature.

This necessitated going to THE ROOT OF THE DISEASE.

Thoroughly convinced that alcohol stimulants and medicines prepared with alcohol did far more harm than good, Dr.
Pierce prepared his remedies, extracted their virtues and preserved them without alcohol, then, guided by actual experience, formed combinations by which a minimum of medicine produced the maxi-

imum result. This directed his efforts and gave him the reputation of the "doctor who cured more than ninety cases out of one hundred that he was used most believing in his FAVORITE," and was the origin of

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

as now known. In no sense is it a "patent medicine," or even a secret one, but a REAL PRESCRIPTION OF A REAL DOCTOR.

that had run into great popularity because it cured more than ninety cases out of every hundred of the cases in which it was correctly used.

One of the important ingredients of this now world-famous "FAVORITE PRE-SCRIPTION" is

BLUE COLOSS ROOT,

which was in great repute among the American Indians as a certain cure for the squaws used it for the relief of their special troubles, particularly for the easing of the pains of maternity, calling it
"P-poose root." Then there are four other ingredients in this "FAVORITE PRE-SCRIPTION": Lady's Slipper root, Black Co-loss root, Golden Seal root and Unicorn root.

It Stands Alone not only in respect to its composition, but also as the only specific, advertised remedy for woman's diseases which absolutely contains no ALCOHOL.

It Stands Alone as the one medicine that makes of their patients fully into their confidence and tell us exactly what they are taking. This Pierce can afford to do, because his
"FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is made of such ingredients and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit, placing its merits above criticism.

100-page Doctor Book sent free

It is a complete guide to the diseases of women, and contains over 10,000 cases.

suffers a case of such a nature as to require
medical attention, is ill-
lustrated with a full

NEGRO KILLED

Fatal Termination of a Shooting Affray Near Bennetts town.

In a shooting affair at a negro gathering at Guire's Chapel School house, between Bennetts town, and Pee Dee Saturday night, Jim Terry was shot through the head and killed by Jim Dawson. Dawson was also shot and slightly wounded. The Coroner held an inquest Sunday and the verdict was that the shooting was unjustifiable and Dawson was charged with willful murder.

No reliable details can be obtained. Dawson was last heard of at Roaring Spring, where he went to have the ball cut out. The case is being investigated by the grand jury now in session.

OLD CHRISTIAN

All Right, No Matter What Crop Conditions May Be.

It is generally conceded that the outlook for a full crop of anything in Christian county is anything but rosy. Though the season for tobacco planting has been good, plants were scarce; some of the farmers say that corn will not have time to come up and mature before frosts come; there is nothing like a full wheat crop to be harvested, and everything is behind on the farms.

But all that doesn't seem to cut any ice with the farmer. Business in all lines is booming and farmers seem to be in fine shape. Dealers in farm implements and machinery are as busy as ever at this season, while those who sell pleasure vehicles are selling more than have ever been disposed of. Since early in the year old vehicles have been traded off or sent to the junk pile and new ones bought to take their places.

Everything is going on in old Christian just as if the elements and the weather man hadn't entered into a combine to head off the prosperity of the industrious farmers. They just snap their fingers in the face of discouragement and come out "on top" every time.

Children's Day.

Last Sunday was Children's Day at the First Presbyterian church. The program was a fine one and was arranged by Mrs. Bull, Mrs. Dietrich and Miss Clara Bonte. The main object was to get everyone at a distance who had ever attended the Sunday school to send a verse of Scripture or a word of cheer for the future. Responses came from north to south and east to west. At the conclusion of the exercises a liberal free-will offering was gathered from the children and the congregation.
